

GREENING THE HEARTLAND 2012

BUILDING COMMUNITY May 16-18 • 9th Annual Conference

PROGRAM

The Greening the Heartland Conference committee is accepting proposal for the 9th annual conference. Featuring the theme “Building Community,” Greening the Heartland, May 16-18, 2012 in Indianapolis, IN, will explore interdependent elements of sustainability. While green buildings are critical components in the design of sustainable communities, their key advantages rely on pathways and infrastructure—watts, water, waste and wheels. Providing our buildings with clean energy, water, efficient use of materials while minimizing waste, and convenient and sustainable means of arrival results in truly green buildings and sustainable developments.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The Greening the Heartland Conference brings leaders of the green building community together for three days of sessions, exhibits and networking. More than 35 sessions will address challenges, solutions and innovations in green building, design and technology. The 2012 GTH Conference is organized around a broad theme of Building Community with an agenda designed to expand the target audience.

PRESENTATION TYPES

- Presentation (75 minutes) – Speaker(s) sharing best practices, trends and proven applications.
- Panel (75 minutes) - Multiple experts presenting information and responding to questions.

PROPOSAL SELECTION

Sessions will be selected based on compelling content, relevance to conference objectives, presenters’ knowledge of subject, clarity of purpose, presenters’ speaking experience and performance (if applicable) and overall balance among content areas.

PRESENTER BENEFITS

One conference registration will be awarded to each selected presenter. Presenters are responsible for providing copies of handouts at their own expense.
